How can the century be more fittingly initiated into Pocumtuck mysteries than by studying the eternal and universal sweep of all important and local actions? Where can such a study be more appropriately suggested than in this loveliest of valleys, where a larger percentage of the population was killed or captured, and the homes and crops oftener destroyed than in any equal area in the New World? What people could furnish as good an illustration as your fathers, who were merely pawns for kings and queens, knights and bishops of the Old World, being massacred or taken into captivity until that noble hour in 1759, when they realized that their history had not been written upon Sugar Loaf, but in the Pyrenees; that their battle ground was...
